AA America 1840-1895: Expansion and Consolidation

Name: _____

Class: _____

Interpretation A

Alexander H. Stephens writing in 1868 on the causes of the American Civil War. Stephens was a prominent supporter of states' rights and had been made the first vice-president of the Confederacy in 1861, where he claimed the new Confederate government was based upon the 'great truth that the negro is not equal to the white man'.

The conflict, on this question of slavery, in the Federal Councils, from the beginning, was not a contest between the advocates or opponents of that peculiar institution, but a contest [...] between the supporters of a strictly Federative Government, on the one side, and a thoroughly National one, on the other.

Interpretation B

American Historian David Brion Davis writing in 1977 on the causes of the American Civil War.

Paradoxically, the South increasingly came to regard Negro slavery as the necessary base on which freedom must rest. From the North a commitment to slavery's ultimate extinction was the test of freedom. Each section detected a fatal change in the other, a betrayal of the principles and mission of the Founding Fathers. Each section feared that the other had become transformed into a despotic and conspiratorial power.
